WILSON WILL SEND FIERY NOTE BACK

Situation Growing More Intense, Outbreaks Reported Daily.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Unless the increasing seriousness of conditions in Mexica forces action, dispatch of the reply to General Carranga's demand for withdrawal of American troops probably will be delayed until after the St. Louis convention because the administration vention because the administration desires to avoid any drastic step at a time when it might appear to be frompted by political influences.

Secretary Lansing and his advisers are said to have given careful consideration to the possibility that the administration might be charged with playing politics in dealing with the problem. The rapid spread of anti-American propaganda in northern Mexico, however, coupled with increasingly grave economic conditions, may take the situation out of their hands.

The fact that the great bulk of the Meximan people have only such reports of what has happened and what is happening in the border states as their leaders choose to give them increases the carger of the situation. A demonstration that might end in bloodshed among foreign residents, it is feared, easily could be provoked. The consequences probaprovoked. The consequences proba-bly would be far reaching and the Washington government be compelled to take measures which it has strug-to take measures which it has struggled for years to avoid.

President Wilson has no intention of changing his policy unless forced to do so. If a peaceful way can be found out of the difficulty presented by the Carranza note and the even more threatening spread of antiAmerican feeling in Mexico, that will he the course nursured. In his treatbe the course pursued. In his treatment of the Mexicon problem, Mr. actively in charge of that paper Wilson is said to have worked aleditor and owner. The Messenger and is not seen that the claremore Messenger and the claremore etep might have upon Latin-American nations generally, beging to give them a clear demonstration of the good laith of the United States in the declarations of friendship.

Problem Complicated. It is known that before the outpreak of anti-Americanism complicated further the prottem of framing reply to the Carranga note, offi-cated further the problem of framing a reply to the Carranza note, officials were considering a proposal that an international commission be formed to liscuss all matters between the two countries. The treaty of 1848, referred to in the Carranza note, provides for such a discussion. With the new and clarming developments beyond the berder, however, there seems little possibility that such a course will be followed.

No important dispatches were received at the war department today. Transportation of the 1,500 additional regulars ordered yesterday to join General Furston is being arranged. At the state department consular reports continued to tell of the spread of the anti-American feeling. None of the demonstrations reported had any serious proportions, however. Many of the reports were rumors rather than eye-wilness accounts.

It is known, too, that the possibility of calling out more state militia to protect the border has been the suject of renewed discussion among officials.

The motives behind the anti-American in opaganda and the precise attitude of General Carranza toward the agitation both are subjects of speculation. Many officials are convinced that the defacto government is tottering and think Carranza may have sent his belligerent note with the deliberate purpose of provoking the Washington administartion to intervention.
